

Every Whiteline product range is race developed and race proven

WHITELINE
Flat out

Whiteline Automotive has its roots in the original Selbys Steering and Suspension company, started in the early 1960's making sway bars and seriously involved in motorsport. Whiteline Automotive purchased the sway bar manufacturing division and retained the Selby's Swaybars brand continuing a proud 40-year history. Shortly after, the company name was changed to Whiteline Automotive.

Since then the product range and reputation of the Whiteline brand has grown dramatically. A dedicated program of research and development with the emphasis on performance and safety sees the company now manufacturing and marketing many separate brands covering a variety of suspension and under car related products.

We have continued and strengthened our association with motorsport. Faster, flatter handling on the racetrack allows us to develop firmer and safer handling on the road. Every Whiteline product range is race developed and race proven.

Whiteline is the registered owner and manufacturer of the following brand names: Selbys Swaybars, Whiteline Swaybars, Whiteline Springs, Whiteline Shock Absorbers, Whiteline Alignment Products.

Each range is constantly growing and covers an extensive list of vehicles and applications supported by detailed catalogues and application guides available on-line or through our dealers.

Whiteline Kits, Total Perfection

Using the complete Whiteline product range, we have developed performance tuned suspension kits. These kits can be bought in stages for a fixed price including fitting and a quality wheel alignment using our unique alignment settings. These kits can be supplied and fitted by your Whiteline dealer, your local suspension specialist or bought directly from Whiteline. Due to the specific handling characteristics of various cars, kit contents may vary as we strive to achieve the best balanced result for each vehicle.

The kits are available in 3 levels, Handling Pack, Sports Pack and The Works.

Handling Packs

These kits deliver the best value ("bang-for-the-buck") dramatic handling improvement over standard without affecting ride height or comfort. Kits typically include heavy-duty sway bars ("Blade" adjustable in some cases); critical alignment or chassis products along with performance rated polyurethane suspension bushes.

Sports Pack

Totally legal, great looks with improved handling, it's what you want, it's what we do. Lowered height varies between 20mm to 50mm lower than standard depending on specific vehicle and options available. Choice of "Control" or "Flatout" kit options on some cars with height and rate adjustable packages available for street and motorsport.

The kits include heavy duty, lowered coils specially matched to Whiteline specified shocks. Fitted heights provided showing resultant heights on your car.

The Works

The ultimate solution, you want the best, you get the best, a combination of Handling and Sports kits to deliver the optimum performance result. Low yet legal ride height with exceptional handling and performance, without ride comfort compromise.

Other options. Each kit has a variety of options available to further customise the package. Kit prices are always cheaper than sum of parts ordered separately, particularly at retail price level. The contents have been carefully chosen to provide the best value for money improvement based on our research. That's why our customers say we have the best suspension kits in the world.

Whiteline Products, Individual Excellence

Whiteline manufacture coil springs, sway bars and various alignment products specific to the performance market. These include a number of innovative solutions like adjustable panhard rods, anti-lift kits, strut braces and many other specialised and unique alignment solutions. Our own range of polyurethane suspension bushes and shock absorbers compliments a dedicated suspension range.

The complete range of Whiteline coil springs, shocks, swaybars, alignment products, lowering block kits, and accessories have all been engineered and manufactured to AS3902 standard from the finest materials under strictest quality controls. Our research and development and commitment to motorsport will continue to improve the range. Our aim is to provide performance handling solutions via improved suspension components. While a single item such as a Whiteline Swaybar will deliver improved handling only Whiteline can offer everything together as a matched/tuned solution to provide exceptional handling and ride.

Further options are available for road, race and club motorsport... all without compromise!
